ATLANTA SHOT OUT.

The Blackbirds from Mobile Do the Work.

CAMPFIELD DOES EXCELLENT WORK.

But Peter Daniels Does Better—It Was a Fine Game—How the Clubs Played. Ball News in General.

A game with one error—and a shut-out for Atlanta.

That's the history of the second day of the second season of the Southern League written at Brisbane park yesterday.

But mighty interesting and exciting work it was.

Pete Daniels was in the box for Mobile and the Atlanta was unable to find him and that was the real cause of the defeat. Campfield, who faced the Mobile sluggers, put up a fine lot of work, too, but not as good as that given by Daniels.

The game was both won and lost in the first inning.

In that inning Campfield yielded two hits, a single and a double, and knocked the life out of a batter, which, with a player's choice, a sacrifice and a stolen base gave up all the runs of the game. After that Campfield couldn't be found by Kelly's boys, but Campfield's support, on the other hand, couldn't find Daniels.

The game opened with Donaghe at bat and a clean hit to left followed. Long took out and at the same time Donaghe was second. Kelly then hit Lutenburg.

WHO IS HE?

A Man Out in Chicago Claims That Atlanta

IS WHERE HE OWNS PROPERTY,

And Says That He Is Rich—He Is Being Examined by Medical Experts on Insanity.

Atlanta retired merchant may find his way into a Chicago madhouse.

But who is he?

The story which carries a sensational tinge with it comes from Chicago in the way of a special to The Constitution.

That special, however, describes a man no one, not even Colonel G. W. Adair, who has known every citizen of Atlanta since it was started, can recall. The special says:

Chicago, July 27.—(Special).—A sensation was caused in Judge Brown's court today when a sealed verdict of the jury in the William Ganshaw case was read.

The court had instructed the jurors to remain out all night if they could not agree and to return a sealed verdict if an agreement was reached. The verdict read:

"We, the jury, find defendant not insane."

But two jurors, Dr. James K. Egbert and Dr. C. Lee Baum admitted in open court that the verdict was not in accordance with their belief, although they had affixed their signatures to the document.

Dr. Egbert said he had signed the verdict to prevent a much as he feared Dr. Baum was suffering from tonitis and might have had to remain in a stuffy jury room all night. The remaining jurors know nothing of a compromise or the serious illness of Dr. Baum. Attorney Mahler for Ganshaw demanded that the two jurors be attached for contempt. The court overruled the motion, but issued an order to have them removed from the courtroom.

Ganshaw was remanded to the detention hospital for a new trial, which the court held necessary, on Friday, July 29th.

Ten years ago a wealthy and retired merchant, living in the outskirts of Atlanta, Ga. He had come from England bringing with him considerable money which he soon increased by tobacco raising and speculations in southern products.

Accumulating a fortune Ganshaw retired from active business, devoting his time to attending to his property. He soon commenced to act queerly and many citizens of Atlanta who remember him for eccentricities in his behavior, property in Atlanta, Ganshaw decided to move to Chicago two years ago, soon after which he received a paralytic shock affecting his mental faculties.

Fearing the influence of his relatives Mrs. Ganshaw a week ago instituted proceedings of involuntary commitment on his behalf.

Ganshaw acknowledged hearing queer noises in his room at all hours of the night, frequently being slapped in the face by invisible hands. He claims on the stand that in a store building in Atlanta owned by him, spooks conduct a training school, preparing embryo sleep-deepers for midnight wanderings, giving instructions for finding guilty consciences and straying with their owners until the latter is driven crazy.

Ganshaw has charged loaded words with innuendo and asks the court for an order incarcerating her husband in an asylum or compelling him to live with her.

According to the figures presented Ganshaw is now possessed of property valued at $50,000, nearly all in Atlanta, although the wife holds the bulk of the estate in her name.

A RAFFLE CAUSED IT.

Young Sol Alexander Gets Into Trouble

Sol Alexander, young white man, well and favorably known in the city, was arrested yesterday morning by Patrolman McElroy on a charge of robbing a man named John.

It is charged that Alexander some time ago secured a horse and buggy belonging to Dr. J. C. Jones, and that he had been using it for a number of days.

When the time for the raffle came Alexander was not to be found. He was, however, arrested by Patrolman McElroy on a charge of robbing a man named John.

ATLANTA IS COOL.

The Maximum Temperatures of All the Cities Compared.

WE HAVE A GLORIOUS CLIMATE.

Atlanta's temperature is 89 when New York, Washington and other cities go up to 96 and 100.

Atlanta has reason to embrace herself in hearty congratulation that during the hottest term of the past few days it has been cooler here than in New York, Chicago, Washington, Memphis and many a city of the north.

While there may have been some complaint there of warm weather, it gives no small gratification to observe that the maximum temperatures for Atlanta compare greatly in its favor by the side of the maximum temperatures of other cities north and south.

The United States weather bureau gives the figures which tell the story of Atlanta's glorious climate.

Those figures tell in no mistakable way that it isn't necessary for the citizens of Atlanta to go away to a summer resort for the maximum temperatures here are much lower than those shown on the weather map for most of the resorts.

Atlanta keeps cool usually as cool as any American city.

Atlanta's Hottest Day.

The "hottest yet" was last Sunday, July 24th.

On that day the mercury in the tube touched the ninety-four mark.

It was far above that in other cities much farther north.

Last Saturday it was 90 in Atlanta, 94 in Charlotte, 96 in Lynchburg, 92 in Detroit and 92 in Chicago.

There were no reports Sunday from other points.

Monday Atlanta went to 89 while Savannah stood 90, Charlotte 94, Knoxville 94, Cincinnati 96, Detroit 94, Chicago 94, New York 94, Kansas City 96, Memphis 92, showing that Atlanta was one of the coolest cities on the map the country over.

Tuesday Atlanta touched 89.

On the same day Knoxville went to 92, Charlotte 92, Norfolk 96, Lynchburg 100, Baltimore 100, New York 96, Chicago 92, Detroit 96, St. Louis 94, Memphis 96, St. Louis 94, Memphis 90, Omaha 96, Cincinnati 94, Atlanta again showing up as one of the coolest cities in America.

The Mean Temperature.

Of course the above figures only represent the highest point reached by the thermometer on those days. On the 23d for instance, while the highest temperature in Atlanta was 90, the lowest was 73, making the mean temperature 81.

On the 24th the maximum was 94, the minimum 71, mean 82 1/2.

On the 25th the maximum was 89, minimum 70, mean 79 1/2.

On the 26th the maximum was 89, minimum 72, mean 80.

The mean temperatures for many northern cities were far above these.

How Long Will It Last?

How long will the hot weather last is a question frequently asked.

The answer is a doubtful one.

Until the wind changes from the south and comes from the west or north it will continue to be hot.

This southern wind that brings the hot gusts of the tropics sweeps over the country causing all the heat in America.

As long as a high barometer in this region of colliery and a low barometer in the northwest. As soon as the low barometer or storm wave comes over to the east the wind will change and we will have cool weather.

AT THE EDGEWOOD.

"Said Pasha" Sang Before a Large and Fashionable House by the Metropolitan Company.

"Said Pasha" sang better every night and before next Saturday night rolls around the MacCollin people will have become thoroughly identified as artistic performers in this opera.

Manager Kleibacker is greatly pleased at the manner in which his latest production is taking with the Edgewood's patrons, and he thinks "Said Pasha" will have a large week's run of business.

Last night's house was noticeably a representative one, and it requires just this kind of an audience to make an opera a great success. And there was much hearty and enraptured applause extended the performers.

The performance was given without a single slip, and everything glided along as smoothly and placidly as could be desired. The concerted numbers were skillfully rendered, while the solos, duos and trios were sung without tremor or difficulty, for there is plenty of good music to be heard in "Said Pasha." The quartet is especially attractive, sung as it is by Mr. Pearson, Mr. Apple, Mr. Harding, Miss Hall and Miss Casaday.

Mr. MacCollin does the character of Haidan as no other comedian could. Mr. MacCollin deserves the highest praise for the performance of his company from the fact of his having to teach the members their parts before they are able to appear.

Mr. Apple sang the role of Turgan very artistically last night. His make-up is above the average, and he now does this character in a most admirable manner.

Miss Hall's vocal is recognized as a superior performance. That Miss Hall is a prima donna of decided merit has been proven time and again.

Mr. Leonard's Noker is rich. This little comedian makes you laugh to even look at him.

Miss Casaday and Miss Leyton were the recipients of much applause, while Mr. Pearson, Mr. Apple and Mr. Harding were to be congratulated upon their performances. "Said Pasha" will be given tonight.

It is what Haidan's Baraparrilla actually does that tells the story of his merit and has given him the largest sale of any medicine.

THE FIRST GEORGIA.

The Veterans Given a Barbecue Dinner at the Home of Captain Howell.

The veterans of the First Georgia regiment of volunteers were entertained at a barbecue yesterday by Captain Evan P. Howell at his home in West End. The "Q" was served under the spreading branches of an immense oak tree in the yard, and the fragrant aroma of the roasting meat, mingled with the scent of the fresh country air, served as a keen appetizer for the feast.

There were gathered about the table nearly fifty veterans, and the dinner was enlivened with many a story of battle and march, and each account of privation and hunger seemed to give more zest to appetites which, in thirty years, had not forgotten the tests to which they were once put.

The First Georgia was the first volunteer regiment which went to the front from this state, and was composed of companies which were organized in all parts of the state when the alarm was first sounded. Its members were in many of the famous battles of the south, and after the disbanding of the regiment and its assimilation by other commands these veterans served with marked bravery to the close of the war.

After the dinner was ended, the veterans were present, except those who were provisionally detained. Among those present were Major Leyland, Captain W. Calhoun, A. J. Orme, J. M. Ponder, George W. Adair, W. K. Wilson, Dr. A. W. Calhoun, Dr. E. J. Connally, J. N. Langston, Henry Mitchell, Joseph Thompson, A. G. Chisholm, W. A. Hemphill, D. N. Bain, A. L. Kuntz, C. A. Howell, Clark Howell, Sr., J. C. Brown, Ben J. Davis, Mike Casey, W. W. Gibbs, Colonel Albert Howell, Sr., William Mimms, Dave Connally, J. A. Anderson, Zach Smith, Harry Krouse, and a few other friends.

BURIAL OF JOHN W. FAIR.

The Funeral Occurred from the Central Presbyterian Church Yesterday Afternoon.

The last rites were performed in the Central Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. A large congregation of friends who knew and loved him in life—college mates and companions who had associated with him from his boyhood—were present for the purpose of attending their friendship and esteem for their old associate.

Perhaps no young man in Atlanta enjoyed a wider acquaintance or was more universally esteemed for his sterling worth than John W. Fair. In his life he was a man of laughter and sunshine, and many who were not intimate with the hidden traits of his character, and who were not acquainted with the outer qualities, and enjoyed his company because of his genial fellowship.

He was born in Atlanta just twenty-four years ago, and the greater part of his life, excepting the three years spent at the university and his later residence in Rome and Calhoun, Ga., was passed in Atlanta, the home of his father, Judge J. N. Fair.

Professor W. A. Bass, who was formerly his professor and was conducted by Rev. M. A. Matthews, of Calhoun, Ga. The minister was in attendance at the bedside of Mr. Fair in his last hours and he feelingly spoke of the resignation with which he contemplated the approach of death. The message that he sent to his friends was to meet him in heaven, and the last words that fell from his lips as he passed into the silence of death conveyed the assurance that he was entering the realm of the pure in heart.

A large number of floral offerings adorned the casket and prominent among the designs was a beautiful emblem of rest that was sent by the Chi Phi fraternity. The interment was made in Oakland cemetery and all that was mortal of John Fair was lovingly committed to the dust.

The pallbearers were M. Z. Criss, Dr. J. A. Link, John M. Slaton, F. C. Block, Lucian L. Knight, Victor L. Smith, Gus Johnson and M. J. Jack. An escort composed of the following gentlemen represented the Chi Phi fraternity: N. R. Broyles, C. F. Rice, T. R. Cobb, E. M. Mitchell, George M. Brown and W. J. Milner.

FUNERAL OF MR. BUSSY.

It Occurred Yesterday Morning from Payne's Chapel.

The funeral of Mr. W. D. Bussy from Payne's chapel yesterday morning was largely attended by friends and acquaintances.

Mr. Bussy was widely known and admired and his death was a great sorrow to his many friends in Atlanta. He was an upright, honorable and worthy citizen and the loss of his good influence is a bereavement to the entire community.

The burial took place in Oakland cemetery and a special car for the accommodation of friends was chartered to convey them to the cemetery.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BEALL.

It Occurred from Her Late Residence Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of Mrs. S. C. Beall occurred from her late residence yesterday afternoon. A large number of friends and acquaintances were in attendance and the services throughout were solemnly impressive.

The floral designs were many and beautiful and the casket was literally covered with the sweet emblems of friendship. The interment was made in Oakland cemetery and a long procession of carriages followed the casket to the grave.

A Mistake Often Made.

Bremen, Ga., July 27.—(Special.)—A sick young man called for a registered letter at the postoffice and was sorely disappointed, as he was making his way from Mississippi to Bremen, Ga., having walked with fever on him most of the way from Birmingham and not having eaten anything since the previous morning. He had had his letter directed to Bremen, Ga., and when told that Kramer postoffice was in Wilcox county he was downcast. This occurs often.

Will The Constitution please again publish the fact that the postoffice at the junction of the Richmond and Danville and Chattanooga, Rome and Columbus in Haralson county is Bremen.

The Banner Sunday School County.

Carrollton, Ga., July 27.—(Special.)—Carroll county is the banner Sunday school county in Georgia. There are seventy Sunday schools in the county, each having a very large membership. The annual Sunday school convention of the county has just completed its session at Shiloh camp ground, with a large attendance.

President Sunday school workers from different parts of Georgia were in attendance. John F. Hixon, of Villa Rica, is the president for the county. Rev. F. W. Dimmock, of this city, is the state Sunday school evangelist, and he is doing effective work in the Sunday school cause.

Has Returned Home.

Carrollton, Ga., July 27.—(Special.)—Mr. E. G. Kramer, president of the Merchants' and Farmers' bank, of this city, and a prominent merchant here, returned last night from a three months' visit to Germany, his native home.

WILL HE RUN?

Are Jack Turner's Eyes Fixed on a Seat in Congress?

HE WAS IN THE CITY YESTERDAY.

He Has Become Taubeneck's Assistant in the Management of the National Campaign.

Jack Turner, one of the headlights of the third party movement, brightened up the third party headquarters for an hour or so yesterday by his sunny presence.

He just dropped down from Washington, D. C., resplendent in a brand new silk tie and a new tan-colored suit of clothes.

Jack has got to be a big man. He's Taubeneck's partner in the management of the national campaign of the third party, and he is going to devote all his time from now to the much-talked-of idea of November to the work. He will be located in St. Louis, for there the national headquarters of the third party are being established, and the aggressive little Georgian will make himself felt.

He and Hon. W. S. Taubeneck, famous in third party circles, have the management of the campaign, and it goes without saying that Mr. Taubeneck has secured an able assistant.

Jack has a great reputation as a fighter, and is a tactician of no poor ability. He helped a great deal in planning the alliance campaign in Georgia two years ago. In fact, Jack Turner is one of the pioneer alliance men in the state, his having the distinction of organizing the first alliance in Georgia. He was the first secretary of the state alliance, and after holding that position two years he became secretary of the national alliance. In that position Jack has made himself a national reputation. He knows how to appear confident, even in a losing fight, and has a conceit characteristic of all small-sized men.

Jack is on his way to St. Louis, where he goes to begin the campaign. He talks hopefully, and says the third party is sure of carrying all the silver states. Coming nearer home, he claims Georgia for the third party.

Some of the knowing ones in political circles attach some significance to Jack's trip here just at this time. He has been spoken of for congress in the third party ticket in the fourth district. It has been said by third party men that he is the only man who could stand any possible show of beating Charley Moses. Jack believes everything he has heard on that line, and although he has risen to the eminence of a national party manager, he is not known to be averse to going to congress. But he does not want to be a lamb to be slaughtered, and if he finds, after a careful survey of the field, that there is no hope of his election, his name will not go before the district convention.

The third party convention to nominate a congressman from the fourth district in West Point next Monday. Delegates have already been elected, but have not been instructed in a single instance. Therefore, if Jack Turner fancies the nomination, all he will have to do is to come to the convention, and he will get it. The third party people down in the fourth revere Jack and regard him as something of a political wonder, and perfectly invincible.

"I do not know," said Mr. Turner yesterday, "that my name will go before the convention. But whether it is nominated will beat Charley Moses."

And the Hon. Jack Turner, national secretary of the alliance, manager of the national third party campaign, and congressional probability, meant what he said.
